

Mark, let me send you this: I'd like to print this out also. Thank you so much for lunch today, I really look forward to seeing you again really soon. Bless you, brother. Keep making the money to get it sown back in for Him!

Something that I enjoy and respect in Mark Durham is his desire to function as a ministry in the business world. As a successful business owner, Mark has spent much time honing the skills necessary to produce an income that he can offer back to our King.

Over the last months, I have enjoyed good time with Mark and have been challenged by his very deliberate witness to the world around him. This should certainly be a call-to-more for us all.

James Baldwin, City Co-ordinator, Impact World Tour: A ministry of YWAM Campiagns

James D. Baldwin